RUSSO & LONGO

The company was founded in the late 1800s by a family that had been involved in wine and olive oil production for generations. The founder, Felice Russo, emigrated to America in 1910, where he lived for around 20 years. On his return, he expanded the company and integrated it with innovative methods of the time. Today, Russo & Longo is represented by the fourth generation. They are characterized by the constancy to realize a project with common strength and represent the great driving force for the future of the company. The Azienda is ideally situated between the sea and the hills of what is now Strongoli.
